"Fall" Into Our Week

Reading: Reading Workshop!

This week we are setting up Reader's Workshop! Your child will learn how to manage their reader's notebook by setting goals, writing reading reflections, keeping track of genres they are reading and much more! Please see attached packet regarding changes in reading log.

Writing: Writer's Notebook

This year, your child will be keeping a Writer's Notebook! They will use this notebook year-round as a resource to guide their writing. We developed the content around the writing rubric that they will be scored on throughout the year. This week we will begin to set up our Writer's Notebooks and learn their expectations during Writer's Workshop. Please see attached letter regarding the homework of decorating of their composition notebooks.

Math: Rocket Math/Math Workshop

Please see attached letter regarding rocket math. I am excited to announce that our third grade team is implementing Math Workshop into our daily math instruction. Math workshop will last for 20 minutes each day. During this time, your child will practice identified skills that meet their individual needs! This week we will be learning the components and expectations of math workshop.

Notes from the Teacher:

This is going to be a great year! Our Third Grade Team has been working hard at organizing and implementing the components of math workshop and math intervention to best meet the needs of our students! There are great things in store for this school year! I hope you are as excited as I am to kick off the 2011/2012 school year!
